Avoiding Common Errors for Income Tax & GST

Understatement of Income
Errors	Correct way
Gross consultation fees / sales of medicine not reported in full	Maintain proper record of all fees / revenue received

Understatement of Income
Errors	Correct way
Locum income received but not reported by the locums	Payer : To issue statement to locums & remind recipients to declare the income in their returns

Incorrect Claim of Expenses
Errors	Correct way
There are instances whereby lab/x-ray tests need to be carried out. Sometimes, medical practitioners liaise with third parties to carry out such test. Mistakes are being made in declaring the fees collected for these tests: (i) Such fees charged are not being reported as revenue by the medical practitioners. There is a general misconception that it need not be reported as they are passed on to the third parties and hence, no profit is made; (ii) Only the profit made between the marked-up fees and the fees paid to the third parties is recorded as revenue.	To record the gross revenue of such fees collected under turnover regardless of whether a profit is made or not; At the same time, you may claim deduction on such related expense paid to the third parties.

OF SINGAPORE

Incorrect Claim of Expenses
Errors	Correct way
 Private & domestic expenses claimed as business expense; 	To claim only expenses incurred for your business
 Expenses in respect of private-plated cars (E or S-plate cars) are being claimed; 	These expenses are not deductible even it is incurred for business purpose;
- Unsubstantiated Claims of payments

 Unsubstantiated Claims of payments to related parties or suppliers (E.g. Paying family members who are hired to help out with the business large amounts of salary instead of reasonable amounts as compared to the salary of full-time employees)

Claim expenses incurred for your business based on actual amounts instead of disproportionate amounts.

INLAND REVENUE AUTHORITY OF SINGAPORE

Incorrect Claim of Expenses

Errors	Correct way
 Failing to keep and retain sufficient records for IRAS to ascertain income & allowable business expenses; Misconception that records can be discarded once a Notice of Assessment is received (Please note that the records should be retained for the requisite period whether or not an assessment has been raised) 	 To retain business records for 5 years; The Comptroller may request for these documents in the course of audits; Please note that the records should be retained for the requisite period whether or not an assessment has been raised

Incorrect Claim of Expenses
Errors	Correct way
 GST registered traders claiming GST expense in the profit & loss account: GST input tax / output tax should have been accounted for during the quarterly GST reporting in the GST returns; GST input tax (on purchases / expenses) should not be claimed as a business expense. 	 Exclude GST input tax from the purchases / expenses claims if your business is GST-registered; Exclude the GST collected from customers (i.e. output tax) from the sales

Common Errors to Avoid (GST)

Understatement of Supplies
Errors	Correct way
 Failure to charge and/or account GST on : All services & goods provided; Sale and disposal of business assets; Free gifts given away; Fringe benefits to staff; Recovery of expenses from another company 	Review all your transactions to see if they amount to taxable supplies

Common Errors to Avoid (GST)

Incorrect Input Tax Claims
Errors	Correct way
 You are not the recipient of the goods/ services (i.e. tax invoices not addressed to you); GST incurred on private expenses GST incurred is not for the making of your taxable supplies; GST incurred are disallowed under Reg 26 and 27 of the GST (General) Regulations 	Review all your input tax claims to ensure that they satisfy the input tax claim conditions

Common Errors to Avoid (GST)

Disallowed Input Tax Claims under Reg 26 and 27
Errors	Correct way
 Club subscription fees; Medical expenses and medical and accident insurance premiums; Family benefits; Cost & running expenses of motor cars; Transactions involving betting, sweepstakes, lotteries, fruit machines or games of chance 	Do not claim the input tax on the expenses specifically disallowed

INLAND REVENU AUTHORITY OF SINGAPORE

Reminder from IRAS: To report correct and complete income information

All businesses to keep proper records and accounts of all their transactions;

Businesses must keep their records up-to-date and ensure that the records support their income tax and/or GST declarations.
